On-Site Training

As an employer you are uniquely responsible for providing the appropriate training for every person that will be operating your Landoll forklifts. They must be OSHA Safety Certified, and you must also verify their skill and/or train them on the Landoll Forklifts at your facility.

With the Experience of Forklift University your Company can have a Certified Trainer complete your company's Landoll Forklift Training at your facility.

Online Training

For those with Landoll forklift driving experience, the online Landoll forklift training class maybe the best solution. Individuals that need the certification for a job or staffing agency can use this class to get the required training and certification prior to going to work. Once completed, drivers receive a hard plastic forklift license. Companies still must evaluate operators, but the online class is fully OSHA compliant. Go to Certifylandoll.com to take the class.

Train The Trainer

For those wishing to become certified Landoll Forklift trainers we offer training through your place of employment or over Zoom. The Train the Trainer Class provides the student with videos, manuals, tests, study guides and training materials. All materials are in Word and can be printed, edited and re-used in all Landoll training. This class includes a facility forklift safety walk through and membership in the Trainer web site providing 24/7 access to all materials.
